Western Writers Adjourn.

Eagle Lake, Ind., July 3.—The tendence at the Western Writers' association was somewhat smaller today than formerly, but the enthusiasm was unabated. After the installation of the new president, Eugene F. W. and the adoption of a few resolutions the association adjourned for one year. At night a banquet was served in Winona hotel.

Strike Feared in Iowa.

Ottumwa, Iowa, July 3.—A sympathetic strike of the miners in this district is feared by operators as a result of the call sent out by the Miners Workers of America. Should the miners in other states join the eastern miners in a sympathetic strike the Iowa miners would probably follow. They are lected as follows: President, Joe Thompson, Galesburg; vice-president, Allen Spencer, Chicago; secretary, C. W. Weeks, Ottawa.

FIELDS ARE GREEN WITH GROWING LEAF

TOBACCO CROP IS ABOUT ALL SET OUT.

Prospects Are as Good as They Have Been for Several Years Past—Rains Put the Plants Two Weeks Ahead of the Season—Little Life in the Market.

VERY condition is now favorable for a fine crop of tobacco this year. The '97 growth is now practically standing in the fields of this state and to all appearances has been as good a send off as any of its predecessors for a number of years past. The Edgerton Reporter says. One thing can at least be said of it, no crop has ever been transplanted from the plant beds to the fields so rapidly or under more favorable weather conditions—especially the later plantings. An abundant of rain of late has served to cinch the plants and start them right along growing without scarcely any hesitation or delay. The shock from transplanting frequently delays a couple of weeks' growth of the young plants, but this season this set back was reduced to a minimum, and putting the fields ahead a week or so of other years, and giving the crop a standard equal to other years of earlier planting. The conditions have been so favorable there can scarcely be any doubt but that almost the contemplated acreage has been set and will probably exceed 40 to 50 per cent. more than was grown in the state a year ago, though statistics covering this ground will not be obtainable for a couple of months yet.
Thus far the prospects for the crop are as promising as last season which were excellent at this date.

Little Business Being Done.
Business in cured leaf shows but little improvement at the local market points. Some sampling is being done by leaf dealers in hopes that the trade will soon turn toward improved conditions.

Plenty of showers during the week has given the belated farmers an opportunity to complete their trans-planting. It is safe to say that the lot of July finds the crop practically out in the fields.

The out worm are still troublesome in a good many localities but the plants have been reset. The weather now seems exactly suited to a rapid growth of the plants in the fields which are showing up splendidly everywhere, the farmers are haring a fight to keep the weeds down.
The showing in the fields is fully up to the standard of other years at this date.

The shipments from this station reach a total of 500 cases to all points for the week. About 783 cases of cigar leaf were exported from New York since our last report.

self.

lase.

A RECEPTION in honor of Mr. and Mrs. John Barlase was given last evening by Mrs. R.
M. Barlase and daughter, Mrs.
David McLay, at the Mount Zion home of Mrs. Barlase. Over one hundred guests were present, and the occasion was one that will be recalled with pleasant memories. Supper was served at 11 o'clock and the hospitality of the hostesses was bountiful.
Mr. and Mrs. Barlase were the recipients of hearty congratulations, and when the good nights were said, it was with regret that such happy events should so quickly come to an end.

Gave a Birthday Party.

brated her twelfth birthday

Miss Blanchard Entertains.

MISS Ruby Blanchard entertained a large number of her were charmingly served and the party did not separate until a late hour.

A FAMOUS RUNNER.

A Profession Demanding Good Lungs and Heart.

Thos. J. Lee, of the New York Athletic club whose performances have attracted great attention in athletic circles in this country and Canada, says, "It is impossible for me to use coffee when training. Postum Cereal supplies the want to my complete satisfaction, without any of the ill effects of the former. To my mind it is the best thing for athletes that has ever been marketed."

A thoughtful man would quite naturally conclude that if the powerful athletes sought out and used especially selected food in the form of a food coffee, it would be a wise thing for a brain worker to do.

An athlete needs energy, vigor, vital force, to win.

How much greater the need of these, by the man or woman who wins by the exhaustive mental processes.
Postum is delicious when well made.
It must be boiled 15 minutes.

SCHOOL BOARD MET ON A HOT NIGHT

THE COMMISSIONERS HELD A SHORT SESSION.

Miss Harriet Holt Is Engaged as a Teacher, To Succeed Miss M. Roberta Holmes—Matter of a School House For Spring Brook Is Deferred—Other Proceedings.

ISS HARRIET
Holt was last night elected as a teacher in the high school, to succeed Miss M.
Roberta Holmes, the action being taken at the regular meeting of the board of education. President

Clemons presided, and Commissioner
Valentine was the only absentee.
After the journal had been read and approved, the finance committee recommended the payment of bills amounting to $33.80, and orders were ordered drawn.

The report of the committee on teachers recommending that Miss Holt be hired at a salary of $60 per month, was adopted.

The text book committee was authorized to purchase a Denmore typewriter two unabridged dictionaries, two sets of encyclopedias, two hundred volumes of supplementary readers and four charts.

The building committee was empowered to make the necessary repairs in the school buildings of the city. The matter of enlarging one of the rooms in the Adams building was referred to the building committee with power to act.

The matter of the erection of a new school building in the Spring Brook addition was deferred until the next meeting and the board adjourned.

LAWYERS THINK IT VALID

Assemblyman Clason Talks of the New Medical Law.

D R J A CLASON of Neosha, the chairman of the committee on public health and sanitation of the last session of the legislature, and the author of the Clason medical bill which became effective yesterday, said when questioned as to possible organized opposition to the enforcement of the law: "There is, of course, only one way in which opposition to the bill could be made, and that would be to refuse to comply with the conditions and carry the question of constitutionality of the law into the courts. But I have no fear of the result in such an event. I obtained the opinions of Eugene S.
Elliott and Charles Charles of Milwaukee, and of Judge Sanborn and others of Madison, and still have their briefs
in my possession."

"In every case they pronounced the law constitutional and valid. One of the points made against the bill was that it would interfere with the practice of Christian science. Other parties have talked about the law's being unconstitutional and that the alleged reason was that the state had no right to say whether a medical college was up to the standard or not, so that its diploma should be accepted or rejected. Almost every other state in the union has a similar law and I am not aware that their constitutionality has been questioned."

Another member of the legislature speaks in a different vein of the new law. He says: "The fact is that the new medical law makes very little real change in the statutes already existing. Physicians already in the state are not affected. Men coming in must have a diploma from a reputable medical medical college, but that is required now. Milwaukee courts are holding that 'diploma mill' credentials are not good and that is all the new board can do. If the board should attempt to exclude anyone who had really studied medicine its existence would be imperiled."

ONE FOURTH OF JULY.

'Twas the morning of the Fourth of July,
We were waiting for the wagon, Jane and I,
To go to the city to see all the fun
To hear the music of the big bass drum,
A grand celebration and a big parade,
Was the attraction and every one said
'Twas going to be fine speeches and songs sung
Something to please both old and young.

An exhibition of fireworks of late design,
In the city park just after nine.
So we started, Jane looked cool and sweet,
And she had prepared a fine lunch to eat.
The war was hot, the very worst
We had that year, we were dying with thirst,
Could hardly wait till we got to town,
And the first had covered us with brown.

At last we arrived what a sight met our view,
Peepers, bands, flags of red, white and blue,
Children in white, in big carriages,
All kinds of makeups for big and small,
Merchants represented in most gorgeous shape,
Mules with clovens on that they couldn't shake,
Monkeys on poles, big horns blowing,
Well, they just made a glorious showing.

I was happy, Jane was by my side,
She enjoyed it all, and laughed till she cried,
We drank lemonade that was made in the shade.

Ate the lunch and the biscuit my little Jane made,
Then the soldiers came out in uniforms gray,
The crowds had to be pushed out of the way,
And what they didn't do with their guns and feet,
Well, I can't explain it was a grand old treat.

We walked all over town, arm in arm,
For Jane and I were born on a farm:
So all the more we enjoyed the sights,
Waiting eagerly for the fireworks at night.
How I wished, Jane was my own little wife—
For years she'd been dearer than my life;
And before I knew what I was about
The magic words from my heart came out.

I said, "Jane, let's get married now, today;
What's the use a-waiting dear, anyway?"
Well, she just looked sweetly up in my face
And said, "John, I am yours in any case."
I didn't say a word, but I took her hand,
And we marched to the minister's while the band

Played the sweetest music I ever heard;
And our hearts were light, as any bird.

So, with dear little Jane on my arm that night,
We saw the fireworks, took in all the sight.
When 'twas all over, we started for home;
How different the ride-of that when we came,
The stars had come out and the silver moon shone bright; we didn't care how soon
We got into the glade, where the shadows were;

'Twas heaven to be all-alone with her.

Jane and I have been married for years;
And for married life we have no fears.
We celebrate liberally every Fourth of July;
We and the children, for we have five.
But the good old celebrations we don't see now;

Yet I think on the Fourth every head should nod.

And give thanks, and hang out the dear old flag.
Let the boom of the cannon, the smoke and roar,
Still welcome the day as it did of yore.

CLOUDY OR CLEAR?

The Condition of Your Urine Will Oft Determine Kidney Disease.

Rheumatism Manifests Itself in Pains but Other Kidney Ailments are More Insidious—Dodd's Kidney Pills Cure All Kidney Troubles.

St. Paul, Minn., July 3.—There is no insurance against kidney disease. The best regulated kidneys of persons of good habits will go wrong. When you reflect how much work the kidneys perform daily—how they filter every drop of blood in the human body over and over again, you can see their work is prodigious. The kidneys can do only so much work, no more. If worked beyond their capacity they become weakened, and the blood becomes poisoned. The poison remaining in the blood causes rheumatism, or some other blood trouble.

Men who work constantly and take little rest, make such demands on their system that it is not strange if some organs give out. Usually the kidneys are affected. Examine your urine and see whether it is clear or cloudy. If it has a dark color, or is muddy or contains deposits or sediment, be sure you have kidney disease. Take it to a doctor and he will verify the diagnosis, if you like.

But, perhaps, your doctor may not know the prescription which is compounded in pill form and sold as Dodd's Kidney Pills, and which has proved a sovereign remedy in all cases and complications of kidney trouble. Here in St. Paul many persons have been cured by a 50-cent box of Dodd's Kidney Pills, who might have spent hundreds of dollars in doctors' bills without effecting a cure.

Mr. Corbin, an insurance agent, writes:

Dodd Medicine Co:
Gentlemen—For two years I was troubled with my kidneys and with rheumatism. I tried other remedies but could get on permanent relief. I got a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and after using them I am cured. I certainly believe they are the best medicine for kidney ailments ever discovered.

HOW WE APPEAR.

Photographic Proofs Show Us This—Defects Brought Out.

When Robbie Burns wished that some power would "the giftie give us to see ourselves as others see us," he had not had the doubtful pleasure of gazing on his own photographic proofs, or his aspiration would have died unuttered. It is a very robust vanity that can withstand such a shock, and a person once experiencing it is not apt to yearn for its repetition. Just why the camera has such a malicious pleasure in suppressing all one's good points and exaggerating all one's bad ones it is difficult to surmise, but that such is the case no one who has ever posed before it can hesitate to admit at once. We have perhaps some little peculiarity of feature that we flatter ourselves nobody except ourselves has noticed—some defect so slight as easily to escape detection—but the photographic proof shows it, dragged ruthlessly into the sunlight, magnified, rendered so obvious that he who runs may read. There is a fabulous fortune in waiting for the person who shall invent a camera that will make the best of us instead of the worst; that will concentrate its powers on increasing our attractiveness instead of diminishing it. If, when we particularly wish to obtain a good picture for relative, friend, lover or husband, the camera would only enter into the spirit of the thing and heartily co-operate in presenting our best expression to the public and in suggesting our highest possibilities, there would be some pleasure in resorting to it in such cases. It would be a sympathetic friend, instead of a dreaded inquisitor. As it is, few of us can face it without a tremor or await its dictum without a fluttering of the heart, premonitory of the shock our vanity is doomed to undergo. It is only clothes that can endure the lens. They are sure to turn out as attractive as in reality, whatever else suffers.

Today's illustration shows a race gown of the tailor made type. It is of light chambray cloth, the skirt having a stitched tablier which arches back over the hips, where it is lapped by the side seams, which are fastened down with pearl buttons. Around the foot are three stitched straps of cloth, buttoning down on the tablier with pearl buttons. The close bodice has an extremely short, rippled basque and opens in front over a vest of white cloth. Buttoned straps adorn the bodice, while the collar of white gauze is ornamented by two bunches of violets and has a cravat of jabots of white lace. The sleeves have a very slight bouffant and are trimmed with straps and buttons.

Good Printing...

Is like good painting—it demands and obtains a second glance. The second glance leads to thought about and knowledge of the thing portrayed, and then on to the artist or advertiser.

The kind of printing as well as the kind of painting that it pays to do and to have done is that which obtains this "second glance." Plenty of the other kind!

We are PRINTERS. Our work obtains glances of admiration, and thus leads on to the end desired. We don't do the "other kind." Put our job room to the test.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

- 1778—Tories and Indians massacred 300 Americans at Wyoming, Pa.
- 1816—Mrs. Jordan, actress and mother of the 10 children of William IV, died in obscurity at St. Cloud, France; born in Ireland 1762.
- 1871—Rome declared capital of Italy with imposing ceremonies. Rome had been the capital of ancient Italy and ultimately of the Roman empire. After the downfall of the western empire it dwindled to a city of 13,000 inhabitants. Under the popes it was restored and enlarged, but many periods of war and turbulence checked its development. During the last 100 years it was at several different times occupied by the French and on the withdrawal of Napoleon's troops in 1870 was occupied by an Italian army, and its citizens submitted to the authority of the king of united Italy.
- 1882—Tornadoes, floods, and waterpouts wrought terrible destruction in six western states.

A QUIET FOURTH OF JULY.

of twenty-three pieces prepared by P. A. Eahle. It may also be an interesting item of local history to note that among them was a balloon forty-five feet in circumference. The fact does away with the tradition that the first Fourth of July balloon ascension was managed by J. F. Sweeney and F. M. Marzluff.

Other Celebrations

July 4, 1854 was also appropriately observed, 800 school scholars from all over the country taking part.

On July 4, 1855, Hon. Harlow S. Orton was the orator, and Sanford A. Hudson the reader.

On July 4, 1856, Janesville's first military company took part in the celebration. It was called "the Janesville Guards."

On July 4, 1858, another "big celebration" was held. James E. Doolittle was the speaker of the day, and William A. Barstow was the president of the day. A feature of the jollification was a dinner served at the Hyatt House. A procession including nearly all of the civic societies marched through the streets. The masons, Odd Fellows, soldiers of the war of 1812, and of the Mexican war were in line. At sundown a salute of one hundred guns was fired and fireworks and a torchlight procession closed the celebration in the evening. G. W. Cumming was marshal of the day.

Celebrations were generally held in those early days, and the people seemed to keep the "dies of liberty" ablaze with zeal.

TAX PAYER TALKS OF LIGHT.

Makes a Suggestion Whereby Some Money Can Be Saved.

TO THE EDITOR Gazette—The matter of lighting the city, now pending before the common council, is of so much importance to the tax payers that I desire to call their attention to a few facts in connection therewith.

The city is now paying for 156 electric lights, at $72 a year each, the sum of $11,232, and in addition for 42 gas lights at $26 a year each, the sum of $1,092, making the total expenditure for lights $12,324 annually.

When you come to consider that but about 2,400 people, including corporations, pay the entire tax of the city, the sum of $12,324 for lights annually, is rather burdensome.

The question, then, for the common council to consider is what is the best light for the least money, and not the appointment of a receiver for any of the concerns interested in making a bid for lights.

The tax payers should not overlook the fact that every year the lighting fund has been increased until it has reached a point where there should be a large reduction and in that connection I wanted to suggest that suppose it be cut down to about $9,050. That would furnish 300 Welsbach lamps for $7,425 and twenty five electric lights for the business streets and places of danger, a saving of $3,274 which might be used to advantage in fixing some of the streets and in protecting the city from damage suits.

Tax payers have become weary of hearing that old chestnut about what someone coming in on the train said about the lights at Janesville. Our streets are lighted for the benefit of persons using the street, not for those riding through on the trains.

With the Welsbach burners it is very evident to those who have given the subject attention that better lighting would be done with gas than with electric light.

In these times when every private citizen is obliged to economize why should there be the slightest hesitation on the part of the common council in accepting the lowest bid?

HOT DAY DESPITE THE BREEZE

Pumping Station Thermometers Got Up to 100 Degree Mark.

HOTTER days than this are rare, even in this changeable climate. Thermometers about town told varying tales, but the one at the pumping station was in especially "high spirits." It showed 100 degrees above zero, Engineer Putnam says, and it did not seem to be distressed, either. Many thermometers registered from 96 to 98 degrees, and but for a cool breeze, this would have been the most uncomfortable day of the year.

WHILE the thermometer registered 96 degrees in the shade Manager and Mrs. I. H. Carpenter, of the Western Union Telegraph company, left the city yesterday on their bicycles for Dixon, Ill. They have selected the route via Rockford and expect to make the return trip on their bikes "over the same course." They will return Tuesday.

COMMON SENSE CURE.

Pyramid Pile Cure Cures Piles Permanently by Curing the Cause.

Remarkable Remedy Which Is Bringing Comfort to Thousands of Sufferers.

Probably half the people who see this article suffer from piles. It is one of the commonest diseases and one of the most obstinate. People have it for years and just because it is not immediately fatal they neglect it. Carelessness causes no end of suffering. Carelessness about so simple a thing as piles has often caused death. Hemorrhages occur from no apparent cause and loss of blood causes death. Hemorrhages occur during surgical treatment, often causing death.

Piles are simple in the beginning and easily cured. They can be cured even in the worst stages, without pain or loss of blood, quickly, surely and completely. There is only one remedy that will do it—Pyramid Pile Cure.

It allays the inflammation immediately, heals the irritated surface and with continued treatment reduces the swelling and puts the membranes into good, sound, healthy condition. The cure is thorough and permanent.

Here are some voluntary and unsolicited testimonials that we have lately received: Mrs. M. C. Hinkley, 601 Mississippi St., Indianapolis, Ind., says: "Have been suffering from the pain and annoyance of Piles for fifteen years, the Pyramid Pile Cure and Pyramid Pills gave me immediate relief and in a short time a complete cure."

Major Dean, of Columbus, Ohio, says: "I wish to add to the number of certificates as to the benefits derived from Pyramid Pile Cure. I suffered from Piles for forty years and from itching piles for twenty years and two boxes of the Pyramid Pile Cure has effectually cured me."

Most druggists sell Pyramid Pile Cure or will get it for you if you ask them to. It is one dollar per package and is put up only by the Pyramid Drug Co., Albion, Mich.

BE A QUIET FOURTH IN THE BOWER CITY

THE ANNIVERSARY WILL NOT BE MADE GLORIOUS.

Ball Game and Picnic Will Comprise the Only Public Events—Some of the Celebrations of Years Gone
By—The Day in the Local Churches.

JANESVILLE will not celebrate the Fourth in a public manner this year and aside from private noise makings and fire works shooting, there will be no demonstration in this town.

The annual picnic of Division No. 3, A. O. H. will be held at Mayflower park next Monday, July 5. There will be athletic events of all kinds and prizes will be given the winners. There will be dancing both afternoon and evening. This will be the only public celebration.

Many wheelmen are planning trips to the surrounding cities. Clinton's celebration will draw a goodly crowd from this city as the annual Fourth of July race meeting at that village is always an event that Janesville horse lovers plan to attend.

The Young People's societies of the county will gather at Beloit, the meeting being of the same character as the one held here a year ago. Quite a delegation from this city will probably attend the meeting.

Nearly every village in the county will celebrate, but Janesville is behind them all in this respect.

The ball game at Athletic Park in the afternoon between Janesville and Beloit nines will also draw a goodly crowd.

SOME OLD TIME CELEBRATIONS

The Bower City Was Patriotic In the Early Days.

NOT MANY PEOPLE in this city can recall the first Fourth of July celebration in this city. The files of The Gazette which was first published in 1845—tell of the celebration held that year. The account of the celebration was brief, and the arrangements were in the hands of a committee composed of E. V. Whiton, J. B. Wheeler, J. M. Burgess, S. Rynds, D. J. Mitchell, J. W. Crabb, John J. B. Pease.

The earliest "big celebration" occurred on July 4, 1852. As at present, the money was hard to get, and the program was once abandoned. Later the people loosed their purse strings, and the celebration was held. The Gazette of that date has this account of it:

The arrangement for the celebration in this village have been, to a great extent, completed, and they are of such a character that we confidently promise a most attractive one. To show something that is intended to be done, it is only necessary to announce the arrangements.

NO WOMAN DROWNED TODAY

The Story Had No Foundation, But Caused Much Excitement.

SOME one started the story today that a woman and all her off spring had been drowned near the upper dam this morning.

The first person who telephoned The Gazette for information said a woman and one child were the victims. The story kept growing until the last seeker for truth gravely announced that "a man told him that a woman and eight children had been drowned."

BASS WAS BEATEN BY ANOTHER MAN

FOOTVILLE FIGHT TO BE AIRED IN COURT.

Village Shoemaker That Says Ernest Parmelee Assaulted Him While He Was Cultivating Potatoes, and He Doesn't Propose To Be "Made a Sucker Of"—Case Was Adjourned.

THE KNOCKING A MAN about is not supposed to be the "proper" paper these days, even in Footville. Frederick Bass, the cobbler of that hamlet walked into the municipal court this morning—with three alleged knife wounds in the top of his head—and swore out a warrant for the arrest of Ernest Parmelee, also of Footville, charging him with assault and battery. Mr. Parmelee was fully aware of the fact, and came to town on the morning train. At 10 o'clock the case was called, and by consent was adjourned until July 10. The plaintiff is a hard working man who has the respect of his fellow citizens. The defendant is a young man who is employed as a farm hand on the Hope Beach place.

On June 30, Mr. Bass says, while engaged in cultivating a patch of tobacco, he was approached by Mrs. Parmelee, who informed him that he was very careless in performing his work for the reason that he let the horse trample down her potatoes.

The Fight Followed

Mr. Bass says he informed the woman that if he had done any damage to her potatoes he would settle for them. This answer did not please Mrs. Parmelee and she then yelled for her husband who lost no time in reaching the scene of trouble.

"As soon as Mr. Parmelee reached the place where I was at work," said Mr. Bass this morning "he told me to look at the wheels of my cultivator and see if they were not loose. This I did but I had no more than stooped over when he sprang upon me with a knife in his hand which he used in striking me over the head. I defended myself as best I could, and during the melee I secured the knife which he had accidentally dropped to the ground."

Mr. Bass brought his 14 year old son along today as a witness. He said this morning that he had always been opposed to being involved in law suits, but that he didn't intend to be "made a sucker of" at this late date. Sutherland & Nolan have been engaged by the defendant, while District Attorney Jack on will prosecute.

JANESVILLE ELKS WILL GO

Meeting of the Grand Lodge in Minneapolis Will Be Red Hot.

JANESVILLE Elks have the most cordial sort of invitations to attend the meeting of the grand lodge in Minneapolis July 6-10.

A delegation of five or six will probably go from here. The last message received by B. H. Baldwin read in part as follows:

"If you see a man dressed in a blue suit, and white vest, pink shirt, black tie, wearing a straw hat with a white and purple band, and tan shoes, he belongs to Minneapolis lodge No. 44, and if he has anything you want, take it away from him."

All the secret societies in St. Paul and Minneapolis will work together to make the grand lodge meeting the biggest thing the Twin Cities ever saw. Shriners and Knights of Pythias have arranged special meetings of their own lodges for the benefit of visiting Elks who are Shriners of Pythians.

The Mutual Fire Insurance Delusion

Thirty-nine Mutual Fire Insurance companies in Massachusetts last year paid all their losses out of one premium and gave back to policy holders $2,852,000 in dividends. ANY DELUSION HERE? In 1895 thirty two Mutuals in Rhode Island did FOUR TIMES as much business as SEVENTY-SEVEN Stock companies. ANY DELUSION HERE?

The Citizens mutual Fire Insurance company of Janesville is organized on the same plan of the above to furnish good safe insurance at actual cost and limited expenses. On business risks it only costs two thirds as much to start in as you paid last year and since we have caused rates to drop 20 per cent, we are still writing business risks and private dwellings at one-fifth less than their rates. Come with us and build up a home industry that will be a credit to this city. Let us know a few weeks before your policy expires, by leaving word at J. A. CLAMMERS GOT GAY OVER THEIR KEGS

HOT TIME IN OLD MONTEREY
LAST NIGHT.

Some of the Hunters Wasted Their Substance in Riotous Living, and Made the Low Lands Echo with Sounds of Revelry—It Was All Good Natured Fun, However.

AND THERE WAS a "hot time" in old Monterey last night. Some of the clam hunters had a high old time and with the assistance of a couple of a dozen kegs of beer they soon forgot all about the festive bivalve that is wont to burrow in the sand. The low land regions about the lower woolen mill were made to echo with the sounds of revelry. Yesterday was pay day and the hunters all had money. A considerable portion of the cash that was paid out was given to a class of men who are very fond of "booze." Many Whitelight club members were among those in attendance at last night's festivities. The merry making was all done in a good natured spirit, so the police made no arrests, although they made frequent trips to the clam beds to see that the "clammers" didn't make chowder of each other, against the peace and dignity of the state of Wisconsin.

Bags Are In Demand.

The clam harvest has brought into use every old bag in the city. Having an eye to business, Edward Quirk, the cigar maker, has made the purchase of over 2,000 sacks which he has been selling to the clam hunters at five cents each. When the clams are brought to the warehouse, they must be tied up in sacks, as they are shipped out of the city sack and all. Mr. Quirk has been making daily trips down the river in a boat selling the bags to the numerous hunters enroute. All kinds of sacks have been used, and one man has been accused of taking the pillow cases from the family beds.

The delivery of shells at the warehouse continued today, and many dray loads were taken in.

A WEE BIT SANG.

When my heart is wae, an I'm like tae greet,
An' a' seems bitter that aince was sweet,
An' life's road hard tae my weary feet,
I just sing a wee bit sang.

Nae laverock I for the world tae hear,
Nae liltle tender, nae mavis clear,
I can just gie a cheep, but when days are drear,
There's joy in a wee bit sang.

For, singin, my tears forget tae fa',
An' the dead an' the changed an' the far awa'
Come back, an' the road's na' hard at a'
Sae a help is a wee bit sang.

When poorth comes an' the curbed's bare,
Whaur there used tae be a' thing an' tae spare,
I tak my crust, an' it's dainty fare,
When munched tae a wee bit sang.

Whes, the fowls in braws frae the nearby town,
Scorn my hoddin gray an' my muckle shoon,
I care nae mair than the man i' the moon,
I just sing a wee bit sang.

Aye, I sing when I'm happy, I sing when I'm sad,
I may my ain cheer when there's nae tae be had,
Life can never be a' thegither bad,
While it leaves me a wee bit sang.

A HAIRPIN.

Mr. Robert Perkins entered his private office with a disagreeable frown. He tossed his hat at the nearest hook and dropped himself into his swivel chair. Then he lifted his knee in the air, clasped his hands about it and gnawed at his mustache. Ordinarily Mr. Robert Perkins was a good looking example of manhood. He wasn't at all attractive at the present moment, however. That's what the fair haired girl at the typewriter in the outer office thought. She could see him when she raised her eyes above her copy, and she wondered what disturbed him so.

The fact is, he was a very much disgruntled man. He had cause to be. Somebody was spying upon his movements. Somebody was even prying into his private affairs and stealing information that was of great value to him.

Mr. Robert Perkins was a real estate operator, a man of big deals, whose name, in spite of his two and thirty years, was already a power in the street. Up to within a few weeks he had been singularly successful, but now somebody seemed to be blocking all his important moves. Only the day before he had prepared in a sketchy way the plat of an extensive tract he had meant to secure, and now he had just discovered that the price had been jumped on him to an extent that meant an outlay of $10,000 more than he had counted on. He knew that his breast was the only guardian of this proposed deal—his breast and his desk, for in the latter was locked the precious plat.

Mr. Perkins pulled out his desk key and thrust it into the keyhole. At least he attempted to do so, but something interfered, something which stubbornly resisted the most violent effort. He drew out the key and brought forth his knife. A few minutes of energetic prying and twisting dislodged the obstacle. It was a hairpin.

A twisted hairpin of bronzed wire. Mr. Perkins instinctively turned in his chair and looked toward the fair haired girl at the typewriter. She was leaning over her work and did not see him. Mr. Perkins knew that the fair haired girl used hairpins of bronzed wire.

Somebody had tried to pick his desk lock with a hairpin, the same somebody who had been making mischief for him right along. Could it be that innocent looking young woman? She handled his letters; she was to some extent familiar with his private business.

Mr. Perkins opened his desk with a bang. Then he struck sharply on a call bell that stood at his elbow. A boy appeared in the doorway.

"George," said Mr. Perkins, "shut the door."

When the lad's back was turned, he looked at the hairpin again and sighed. Then he thrust it carefully into his vest pocket. When the boy approached him, he was gazing intently at the plat where it lay, apparently undisturbed, in the desk.

"George," said Mr. Perkins, "do you remember that I left early yesterday afternoon?"

"Yes, sir," said George. "You went away at 8 o'clock with Mr. Tompkins in a carriage."

"Did you leave the outer office before closing up time?"

"Yes, sir. I went to the postoffice for stamps, and I came back by the way of Lawyer Briggs' office and left that abstract."

"How long were you gone?"

"Bout half an hour, sir."

"Was Miss Phillips in the office when you left?"

"Who—Miss Alice?"

"Yes, Miss Alice."

It was a pretty name. It was the first time Mr. Perkins had spoken it, and he thought it a very pretty name, and then his fingers closed on the hairpin and his heart hardened.

"She was here when I left and here when I come back, sir."

"Anybody else here?"

"Mr. Burnham was in just before I left. He was talking to Miss Alice, sir."

"Talking to Alice?"

There was something in his snappy tone that carried the intimation that Mr. Perkins didn't like this information.

"Yes, sir, talking confidential like. When I looked around, he stooped down and said something real low, and Miss Alice kind of blushed."

"That will do, George."

As the boy opened the door Mr. Perkins called him back.

"Step across the hall to Mr. Burnham's office and tell him I want to see him."

Two minutes later Mr. Tom Burnham puffed in. He was a short, stout man, with a double chin and a laughing face.

"Want to see me, Bob?" he cried as he took a chair.

"Yes," replied Mr. Perkins. He paused a moment. "I'm worried and puzzled," he added. "Somebody is robbing me of my ideas."

"Get out!" said Mr. Burnham. "It's true," said Mr. Perkins. "A half dozen times within the last three weeks I have found myself face to face with evidence that my private papers have been tampered with."

"Seems incredible," said Mr. Burnham.

"Yes, but it's true."

"Suspect anybody?"

"Yes."

Perkins rang the bell.

"George," he said, "tell Miss Phillips that I want her."

"Hold on," said Burnham. "I don't like this. It's all wrong. Just excuse me."

"Sit down," said Mr. Perkins.

The stout man sank back in his chair. Then the door opened, and Alice entered. She cast a nervous glance from Perkins to Burnham. Her cheeks paled a little, but her lips were firmly compressed. Perkins watched her narrowly.

"Sit down, Miss Phillips," he said.

"I have called you in here to ask you a few questions. Somebody has been tampering with the private papers in my desk, Miss Phillips."

The girl started, but she returned his gaze fearlessly.

"Yesterday afternoon this unknown was at work again. The tampering must have taken place while George was absent from the office. You, I think, were here until he returned?"

"I was here." Her voice was clear and steady.

"Did any one enter the outer office during that time?"

"Several men came to the door and inquired for you. Mr. Burnham is the only one who entered."

"Did you sit where you could see my private door?"

"Not all the time. I moved my typewriter table to the window and put the screen about me."

"May I ask why you did that?"

The girl hesitated, but her gaze did not flinch.

"Because—because of Mr. Burnham's attentions."

"Come, now. I protest!" began the stout man.

"Sit down," said Perkins.

He looked back at the girl. There was a deep flush on her cheeks.

"You mean that Mr. Burnham paid you attentions that you thought were out of place in a public office?"

Mr. Perkins' voice was cold and hard. The girl compressed her lips.

"Yes," she murmured.

"Hang it all, man," sputtered Burnham, "what has my saying a complimentary word or two to a pretty girl got to do with your alleged robbery?"

The girl turned her head and looked at him, and there was something in the look that made the heart in Perkins' bosom leap for joy.

"I have questioned George," he said hurriedly, as if the business had begun to nauseate him, "and he corroborates your statement. He saw Mr. Burnham stoop and murmur something to you—and—you blushed."

"By George," cried Burnham, "this is deucedly unkind!"

Perkins did not notice him. He was looking at the girl.

"Yes," she slowly said, "I remember. I will tell you what he said."

"It is not necessary," said Perkins.

"Certainly not," cried Burnham.

"Do as you please," said Perkins.

"It was only a simple request," the girl went on. "He said—"

"I protest," cried Burnham.

"Go on," said Perkins.

"He said that he wished to clean an ink well, and he asked me for a hairpin."

Burnham laughed boisterously.

"You see," he chuckled.

Perkins arose and fumbled in his vest pocket.

"Is that your hairpin, Miss Phillips?" he asked. "I found it in the keyhole of my desk this morning."

Burnham arose. His face was livid.

"Just a joke, a practical joke," he muttered thickly and turned and rushed from the room.

"I knew it was that cur the instant you entered the room," said Perkins, but his voice changed as the girl arose.

"Just a moment," he stammered.

"I—I want to ask you one more question."

There is a new typewriter in the Perkins outer office, but as Mrs. Alice Phillips-Perkins herself picked her out it is believed that she is a thoroughly competent and trustworthy successor to that esteemed lady.—W. R. Rose in Cleveland Plain Dealer.

One of Lincoln's Dispatches.

In his "Campaigning With Grant," in The Century, General Horace Porter tells of General Halleck's fear of trouble from the enforcing of the draft and his desire that Grant should send troops to the northern cities. General Porter says: On the evening of Aug. 17 General Grant was sitting in front of his quarters with several staff officers about him when the telegraph operator came over from his tent and handed him a dispatch. He opened it, and as he proceeded with the reading his face became suffused with smiles. After he had finished it he broke into a hearty laugh. We were curious to know what could produce so much merriment in the general in the midst of the trying circumstances which surrounded him. He cast his eyes over the dispatch again and then remarked: "The president has more nerve than any of his advisers. This is what he says after reading my reply to Halleck's dispatch." He then read aloud to us the following:

"I have seen your dispatch expressing your unwillingness to break your hold where you are. Neither am I willing. Hold on with a bulldog grip and chew and choke as much as possible."

"A. LINCOLN."

Tabooed.

"When I was in the lightning rod business," said the drummer, in a reminiscent mood, "I—"

But the smoking room had suddenly emptied, and he was an outcast among the traveling men thereafter.—Hard-ware.

A Builder's Experience.

A USEFUL LIFE RENEWED IN A REMARKABLE MANNER.

Udney Y. Wilson Was Near Death's Door. Doctors Failed to Help Him—A Home Remedy Succeeded in Saving His Life.

From the Evening News, Detroit, Mich.

Udney Y. Wilson, contractor and builder, living in Detroit, Mich., at 87 High Street, West, said regarding Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People: "For years I have been out of doors in all kinds of bad weather, looking after my building contracts. I have worked many days in the rain and cold to complete some building. About two years ago I noticed I could not get around as I should, and commenced to have a severe pain in my back. I tried the usual remedies without getting any relief, and for nearly a year I suffered intensely. I kept up as long as I could, as I had several contracts for buildings that had to be completed."

"At night I could not sleep. My physician said it was my kidneys, and every day I went out doors they would keep me awake nearly all the following night. Instead of getting better I became worse, and worried a great deal about my work. The doctor said I must quit work and go to bed, or he would not be responsible for my life."

"All the medicines I took only helped me temporarily. Some day I would feel better and go out a day only to be again confined to my bed for weeks at a time. One day my wife suggested that I try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and I laughed at the idea."

"Finally when I got into such a condition that I would take almost anything in the hope of relief, I tried the pills. They helped me from the start, but I would not acknowledge it and said it was the other medicines that had just commenced to work. I disliked to own up that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills helped me, as I had no confidence in them. When I could not carry on the imposition any farther, I told my wife that the pills were helping me. I took three boxes before I was entirely cured, and we now keep them in the house all the time."

"I am not prepared to say that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People will cure everything, but I know they will cure kidney troubles and general muscular weakness, as they cured me."

"I now recommend them to everyone in my neighborhood, where I formerly made sport of all proprietary remedies."

U. Y. WILSON.
Subscribed and sworn to before me, a Notary Public, this fourth day of March, 1897.

ROBERT E. HILL, JR., Notary Public, Wayne County, Michigan.

An analysis of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People shows that they contain, in a condensed form all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore scattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of in crime, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexion, all forms of weakness either in male or female, and all diseases resulting from vitiated humors in the blood. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50—they are never sold in bulk or by the 100 by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. When You Get Ready.
When you have consulted everybody else and have been treated for every known and unknown disease; when you have filled your system with one-pattern, ready-made, same-for-all, sure-cure preparations; when you have tried charms, spells, fads and fancies; if experience has taught you that Nature alone possesses the power to heal; that certain remedies assist Nature, but none of them cure; that it is better to work with Nature than to fight the disease; that the surest way to cure disease is to remove the cause of that disease, then we will gladly assist you with Radloux remedies and methods which tend to build up and strengthen the entire system until Nature can assert herself and the Cause of disease is removed.
We treat the Patient, not the disease. This is one reason why we succeed where others have failed.
We have been in Janesville more than ten months and are here to stay. Consultation, opinion and advice free.

Who Goes Where It's Hot.

Edward H. Conger of Iowa, the new United States minister to Brazil, will be perfectly at home in Rio de Janeiro, for he has been there before, having been appointed in 1890 by President Harrison to the same diplomatic position which he has recently been called upon to fill. Mr. Conger is a native of Illinois and has been prominent in public life for more than twenty years. He was born in Knox county March 7, 1843, and at the age of 19 enlisted in the Union army as private. He served until the close of the war, coming out with the rank of captain.

Father of Tennessee's Big Fair.

A great many patriotic men and women of Tennessee hoped to make the state centennial exposition the great success which it has become, but a large share of credit could be given to the man who originated the idea and who is practically the father of the exposition. This man is Captain William C. Smith of Nashville. Captain Smith settled in the city when but a boy, and he imbibed his full quota of civic pride. He suggested the exposition in November, 1893, and the scheme was at once taken up and carried out.

REVIVAL OF RUFFLES.

Various Ways in Which They Are Used. Rose Silk Costume.

The success of ruffled gowns is now an assured certainty. The ruffles are as yet small, especially when employed upon bodices, a trimming which is affected more and more for them when they are closed at the side or are made of gauze. These gauze corsages are the fancy of the period for evening and theater wear. Gauze ruffles are edged with lace, with narrow ribbon or with bands of velvet. There is less variety in the effects to be obtained by ruffles on bodices than on skirts, for on the latter they may be placed horizontally, vertically, obliquely, in vandykes and scallops, or may compose the entire skirt from hem to waist. The sleeves offer greater facilities for the application of ruffles than any other part of the corsage, for the epaulets may be of one or a number of ruffles, or the ruffles may be put on in a V form, diminishing to nothing at the elbow.

The picture given today shows a charming costume of rose silk. The skirt is composed of a pointed yoke of guipure, trimmed with narrow bands of black ostrich plume, on which is mounted a deep flounce of the plain silk. The blouse bodice is also mounted on a guipure yoke trimmed with plume, the yoke being outlined by a border of guipure. The tight sleeves have a slight bouffant at the top. The soft belt is of rose silk. The hat of pink straw is trimmed with white gauze and black plumes. JUDIC CHOLLET.

Cloudburst in Kentucky.
Louisville, Ky., July 3.—H. C. Mordue, general passenger agent of the Louisville, Henderson & St. Louis railway, reports that a terrific cloudburst occurred Friday in the vicinity of Henderson, Ky., which did considerable damage. Mr. Mordue says that his advice is that about a mile and a half of railroad track belonging to his company is washed away. No trains are able to proceed farther than Owensboro.

Eighty-Seven Wolff-Americans

Are in daily use by street inspectors in New York city. The severe test of a year's continuous hard riding—summer and winter—over cobblestones and the roughest roads—in all sorts of weather—under the most adverse conditions—demonstrates the durability of wheels more conclusively than pastime riding over good roads or track racing by paid riders.
Expert Janesville machinists are enthusiastic over the Wolff-American's construction. No other $100 wheel has equalled Wolff-American sales in Janesville this year.
